

Constitution Approved In Student Referendum

by Jerry Lawlor

Students of the University of Bridgeport, voting by secret ballot on March 9, 10, and 11, overwhelmingly approved of and ratified the constitution establishing a Student Government Association. The ballots, counted by Chris Parrs and John Cox, assisted by Miss Mueller and Mr. Brewer, revealed that of 802 ballots cast during the voting, 737 were marked "Yes," 62 were checked "No," and 3 bore no indicating marks at all.

Prelude to Ratification

The events leading up to the adoption of the constitution included a group discussion on Tuesday, March 2; a broadcast over station WLIZ on Friday, March 5; and an informal get-together on that same evening which featured dancing and free refreshments as well as entertainment by the Mumbles Quartet and an appeal to those present to attend the football rally to be held at the Klein Memorial on March 16. These three events took place in the Stable.

Most important of all the preliminary steps to the ratification of the constitution, however, was the assembly held at the Klein Memorial at 11:30 a. m. on Tuesday, March 9. Although the primary purpose of this assembly was to clarify the issues related to student government and to remove, insofar as possible, any doubts concerning it from the minds of the students, only a very small percentage of the 1359 students affected by the proposal attended.

The program was opened by Dr. Littlefield who paid tribute to the late Governor McConaughy after which Professor David O. Long offered a prayer of rededication. Chris Parrs then summarized the events leading up to the drafting of the constitution in its present form and introduced John Cox who presented the guest speaker to the audience.

Guest Speaker

Mr. Robert West, a Yale University student who is, at present, serving as a member of the Executive Committee and chairman of the Connecticut-Rhode Island region of the National Student Association, spoke on the problems of student government. Chief among these problems,

Snack Bar Is Remodeled Through Student Proposal

Immediate remodeling of part of the Snack Bar, according to specifications outlined by Emery Nadeau, was ordered this week by Vice President Henry W. Littlefield. Nadeau, who was asked to join the Snack Bar committee because of his past experience in the field, proposed that shelves be erected along the walls of the Snack Bar to allow students to rest their coffee and books when they stopped for a snack. It was noted that this would mean the removal of some of the cushioned chairs along the walls. All agreed, however, that the space gained and convenience offered by the change would offset the other luxury items.

Suggestions flew fast and furious at the first meeting of the Snack Bar Committee consisting of Ev Matson, Paul Franko and Jim Dlugos together with Mrs. Kent, Mrs. McNamara, and Vice President Littlefield. Although nothing tangible was accomplished the Student Committee did express disapproval of many existing conditions and the Vice President requested that they be looked into very closely to determine whether or not they would not be worthwhile in the long run.

Improvement Shown

A spokesman for the Student Committee expressed the opinion that many of the deficiencies mentioned in a previous issue of the Scribe had already been rectified, and they were satisfied with the improvement shown.

Mrs. Kent pointed out that the Snack Bar would be greatly expediated if students would return the cups and other utensils to the counter before they leave the Snack Bar. She also added that if the students would take it upon them-

Rally Scores Touchdown: Football up to Trustees

"A sensationally successful demonstration of student enthusiasm and cooperation."

"The most vigorous display in the history of the institution."

"I shall be most eager to place the football program before the trustees immediately, and with my wholehearted recommendation that it be 'Football for '48.'"

These were President Halsey's declarations bringing to a close the most effective student rally ever witnessed upon the University's campus.

The Scribe will carry further developments.

An ancient, forbidding mansion in the lost-lake region of Indiana, and a terror-breeding thunderstorm form the weird setting for a dinner forewarned, foredoomed, and forbidden—a dinner at which eight black-robed guests are present, but of which only seven partake. Dreams, terrifying, strange, and inexplicable, portend the doom which only the TIKI can explain.

Suspense, intrigue, and terror will reign at the premier performance of "Dinner in Black," the original three act play to be presented tomorrow and Saturday night at the Klein Memorial by a combined professional, civic, and University cast.

MARILYN LOWE, who plays the leading role of Leslie, is a guest star from New York where she is heard in such radio shows as the "Theatre Guild of the Air," "Superman," "This is Your FBI," "Real Story," "Big Town," "Cavalcade of America," and many others. Miss Lowe has just returned from an extended tour throughout Florida and the South as featured vocalist at leading night spots. Broadway has seen her in such shows as "The Imaginary Invalid," "Aries in Rising," and "Case History." She has appeared with numerous summer theatre companies including the Bellport Players of Long Island and Peaks Island, Maine. In addition to her acting and singing career, she is a Powers model and a former dancer for Warner Brothers Studio.

CATHERINE BUSCH who is cast as Mrs. Moorland, has studied at the "Adrienne School of Theatre." She played Elly in "Elly and Elmer," a comedy radio team, for two years, was a character actress for Kreml radio programs, and has also appeared on radio programs for the "Philadelphia Record." She toured New England, Canada, and Nova Scotia with a stock company directed by Alexander Dean, and played stock in Reading, Pennsylvania for two seasons.

CARLTON BENTLEY will appear as Victor. He is a Stratford dramatic director who has played such Broadway leads as "The Mikado," "The Gondoliers," "The Pirates of Penzance," and "No, for an

"Big Show" Comes to U.B. April 9, at Ritz Ballroom

The spirit of the circus will prevail at the Ritz Ballroom on April 9th at a dance sponsored by the Social Activities Committee of the University of Bridgeport. This unique, informal affair will feature not only dancing to the music of Joey Zelle's orchestra, but entertainment presented by the Office of Campus Productions.

The upper and lower floors of the ballroom will be decorated in a manner intended to convey the atmosphere of the circus. It is the intention of the committee to produce the effect of a midway on the lower floor which will feature booths set-up and sponsored by clubs, fraternities, dormitories, and other interested campus organizations. The organizations setting-up these booths will receive an allotment from the Social Activities Committee which is expected to at least partially cover the cost of the booth, its decorations, and the prizes. The net profit of each venture (the amount remaining after the deduction of the running expenses) will be placed in a general fund, the use or disposal of which will be decided upon at a later date by the organizations who sponsored the booths.

It has been suggested that the booths feature the usual circus and carnival attractions. Among them will be refreshment, weight guessing, and fortune telling booths; and, to make the atmosphere more convincing, Miss Muller, the director of the committee sponsoring the dance, hopes to be able to secure the use of a cotton candy machine for the evening.

Mr. Barry, manager of the ballroom, has entered into the spirit of the occasion. He intends to dress the ticket takers as clowns and the musicians in band uniforms re-

More Straight Talk

No one needs to take stock of himself more closely than a student campaigning for a seat in our new student council. In so doing he should try to discover all his weaknesses, as well as his abilities. Especially should he evaluate his development as a public speaker and the ability to get along with people. He has to check the over-development of dominant traits and conceited attitudes. He must determine now whether he will have the time and the energy to carry on the many verbal battles the council will wage in the near future.

A student running for a seat in a student council on a campus such as ours, where many of the students are apathetic toward student government, must have more than the usual amount of ability needed for leadership. He must be more than an esteemed athlete, more than a "good guy," and more than a member of "my frat." The would-be councilman must have the extra ability, the most widespread experience, the highest intelligence—and the TIME—to meet the challenge every councilman will face

The student who accepts a position but who can't give it the time it warrants is only too common on our campus. Such a student wants the prestige of office, but does not want the work that is a vital part of the job. A student council comprised of students of this sort is definitely to be avoided. The student council must not be allowed to fizzle out

The councilman must be capable of motivating some dynamic action based on concrete campus issues and problems. Mere voting on other people's proposals will not suffice. He must participate actively in every discussion—he must find the time to study each problem—and then promote some definite solution and action.

Finally, our new councilman's most difficult problem will be to sell the council to the student body. Sure, they voted for it—but why?—because they had a real down-to-earth interest in it; or were the votes cast out of sympathy for the Student Government Constitution committee?

On twin campuses such as ours unity and integrity is going to be difficult to achieve. All along the list, then, the would-be councilman must evaluate himself closely to see if he can meet the many challenges that will face him during his term of office

Here, also, you the voters must

A Job Just Begun!

The immediate purpose of a student government is to provide a method which will enable the students of an institution to organize in a manner ensuring effective participation of the students in those school functions which directly affect their social, economic, physical, and intellectual welfare. The effectiveness of such an organization depends upon the amount of authority granted to it by the administration, the structure of the system, and most important of all, the attitude of the students who participate in the program.

Our constitution has already been drawn up by a committee of hard-working students who have unselfishly devoted over 400 man-hours to the formation of the document. Now that it has been adopted by the necessary majority of students, it is up to each student to familiarize himself with its provisions and to make every effort to see that the new student government is successful.

Only with the cooperation of all the students of the University can the student government succeed. With the acceptance of the new form of government, the students have assumed new responsibilities both to the University and to themselves. Upon the manner of discharge of these responsibilities depends the future reputation of the institution. It is the duty of each student to keep abreast of the activities of the Student Council and the Student Council Advisory Committee and to see to it that these two bodies act in his or her best interests. If, at any time, he or she feels that the best interests of the students are not being served, the student should consider it an obligation to take the necessary steps to rectify the situation. This is of paramount importance, since, if a sufficient number of students make the same request, the Student Council Advisory Committee will realize that the subject of the request is one which affects a substantial proportion of the student body.

The main purpose of the Student Council Advisory Committee is to act as a clearing house for student suggestions which are then passed on to the Student Council for further action if the SCAC considers them worthy of the attention of that body. Is it not logical to assume that the SCAC might ignore such a suggestion if it receives that suggestion from only one or two students? Such a thing is entirely within the realm of possibility.

There are two ways in which an obstacle similar to that mentioned above could be surmounted. The first consists of the submission of a petition containing at least twenty-five names to the secretary of the SCAC. In such a case, the suggestion must be presented directly to the Student Council for further action by that secretary. The second method assumes that the students are interested in campus affairs. In this instance, if the students do not keep their suggestions to themselves, the SCAC may be made aware of conditions which it might otherwise ignore.

That's the story. The student government has been accepted in the referendum; it is now up to the students to make it work. Remember that you, as a student, share that responsibility equally with every other student on the campus. Know whom you are voting for during the balloting for members of the Student Council; make sure that the persons you vote for will actually represent you. Above all, though, make your ideas and wishes known to the SCAC, and be sure that you are in full agreement with any petition you may sign. The reputations of the school and the student government are now in the hands of the students; you are one of those students; do your part to make this new venture a success.

Incidentally Speaking...

evaluate each candidate who will run in the coming elections and decide if the student in question has the necessary qualifications to fulfill the tremendous job that lies ahead of him should he be elected to office. Between now and the coming elections, then, watch the Scribe for names in the news, get to know those who will be in the race. Ask your buddies, what are their opinions of the various student leaders and compare your answers closely. In short, during the next month or so, check up on the men who will be nominated shortly to determine just what they can offer you.

And when you vote, cast your ballot with the apprehension that the student for whom you vote can either make or break the student government plans for this campus... because he can!

An Apology

To J. J. Cox: My personal apologies to you and the other students mentioned in your letter. (Reprinted elsewhere in this issue.) and thanks for your reply to last issue's editorial.

But the apologies are not for presenting incorrect facts. Rather they are for not having given the facts mentioned in your letter; this omission led to the conclusion that only three persons voted on the appropriations. Actually another meeting had to be called and this is the final meeting of which you write.

Points of Interest

A television set to be installed on our campus was made a probability last week with sizable donations from some philanthropic individuals, aided through the work of a very energetic committee. More information when released.

The Office of Student Activities has mailed the forms to be used in requesting Student Activity Funds for the 49-49 school year. All requests must be on file in that office by April 15.

The Student Constitution committee thanks the Bridgeport Radio Hospital for the use of their loudspeakers during the referendum. . . . The football rally committee was mighty pleased with the way in which the on-the-spot recordings of student opinion, for and against football, went over with the student body. Reigh Carpenter, spokesman for the football rally committee when they played the recordings to the Executive Committee of the B of T's did a remarkable job in presenting a cross-section of student opinion in a talk that was both informative and interesting.

Student Would Send Profits From the Circus Dance to Various Local Charities

In an attempt to place student opinion where it will do the most good, the SCRIBE will award $1.00 to the student submitting the best live letter during each two week period. Letters will be judged on timeliness of the topic discussed and the manner in which the subject is presented. All letters must bear the author's signature, but if the writer so desires, his name will not be printed.

To the Editor of SCRIBE:

May I offer a suggestion for giving the coming Circus Dance a sound and worthy cause. Primarily, I would like to see that all the funds derived, exclusive of expenses, be pooled into one central charity fund through which all community drives (Community Chest, Red Cross, Crippled Children's Workshop, etc.) will receive an allocation.

This could be expedited through a student commission and be done annually. I believe that once the precedent is established, the Circus Dance may become a traditional annual affair. Thus the students of the University of Bridgeport can discharge a civic responsibility and detour the time-consuming and personality-initiating that inadequately organized the charity drives spaced throughout the school year appear to be causing under the present approach.

STANLEY VLANTES

You're Right, J.J.C.

To the Editor of the SCRIBE:

In reply to the editorial in the Scribe concerning negligence of duty to an elected office, I would like to clarify a statement made by the writer of the editorial—that nine persons elected to the Student Financial Committee were lax in performing their obligatory duty to their office.

The person writing the editorial was absolutely incorrect when he stated that Matty Morris, Tom Walsh and I were the only representatives present at the final allocation of funds for the school year. Such was not the case, for Elaine Robertson, Tom McGannon, and Ernest Goodreau were also present.

I agree wholeheartedly with the theme of your editorial, that too many elected representatives have failed to fulfill their obligation to the students who put them in office. However, I feel that the people who were accused of lack of duty and who were in reality performing their duty should receive an apology from the writer of the editorial. I also feel that the writer of that same editorial should be certain of his facts before presenting them to the students through the medium of the SCRIBE; thus saving him the embarrassment of a retraction.

JOHN J. COX

Ed. Note: Mr. Cox is correct in saying that six persons were present to vote for the final schedule of social activities funds. The editorial in the last issue of Scribe failed to make clear that it referred to the scheduled last meeting of the funds committee. Actually a "final" final meeting had to be called because of the lack of attendance at the final meeting. This "final" final meeting is the one to which Mr. Cox refers.

Why Grad Fees?

To the Editor of the SCRIBE:

Graduation day will soon be here for close to 400 sophomores. For these students, graduation will mean that two years of college life are behind them. For the University, graduation will mean a ten or fifteen dollar "graduation fee" from each graduating student.

Before I permit this graduation fee to be deducted from my acceptance deposit which the University Bursar still has, I wish to know the exact expenses my graduation fee will cover. Rather than track down an administration official, I wish an account of such graduation expenses were published in the Scribe by the official in charge of this matter. Thus, each student might know what his expenses were and how they were being handled.

Anthony Pellegrino.

To the Editor of the SCRIBE:

The University keeps foremost the policy of, "The greatest good for the greatest number." Concerning the change of program after registration is closed, there is no charge where the change is necessary because of a clerical error, a conflict or a change initiated by the University. Some sections have to be discontinued and others opened. Instructional staff members have to be used for both day and evening courses. Many students who pre-register withdraw unofficially and give the University no notice until after registration, if at all. Taking into consideration the whole University Community, the policy is to keep the changes to a minimum and to charge only for those asking for special privileges after registration. The large majority of the instructional staff continued with the same sections into the second semester. Some changes were necessary because of the move into the new laboratories. However, the policy of the University is that no change of instructors is permitted. It is unfair to instructors and to students to overload. It is not practicable from the University viewpoint of total scheduling necessary.

Dean Fish

Lefties' Dilemma

To the Editor of the SCRIBE:

It seems that the left-handed person is the forgotten man at the U. of B. Left-handedness is a fairly increasing trait amongst new generations, and at the U. of B. there are many left-handed boys and girls.

Why doesn't the administration make allowances for that fact, and buy some left-handed seats? When you have to crane your arm over to the right side it puts a strain on the whole body, and if you have four consecutive periods of note taking, or other writing, you invariably leave classes with well distributed kinks all over your body. There is another difficulty—the fact that many teachers suspect one of trying to cheat at first glance because of the position the left-handed person must assume to write during a test.

Here's hoping that the school will come through with left-handed chairs for us left-handed creatures.

Marion Percelay.

Participate!

To the Editor of the SCRIBE:

Now that we have six fraternities on the campus, the time has arrived to take steps toward interfraternal competition. Competition of this type has proved effective on other campuses, and there is no reason it cannot work to the advantage of this University.

While discussing this matter with Matthew Morris, president of Sigma Phi Alpha, last week, he suggested that something be done about the situation. He says his fraternity is taking steps toward organizing a team for each sport, and he wants it known that in keeping with its avowed purpose of promoting and supporting athletics on the campus, the members of Sigma Phi Alpha extend a challenge to the other organizations in the school to engage in any athletic competition.

I feel that the other fraternities and organizations should not let this bid go unanswered. Let's get out and do both the school and your organization some good!

Goldstein Makes Good On Local Station WLIZ

By BILL ORRIS

Demonstrating keen personal initiative, Al Goldstein, liberal arts sophomore, succeeded in becoming one of the regular staff announcers at Radio Station WLIZ.

On the air, Al Goldstein becomes Al Martin and may be heard at various times from seven in the morning until 2 p.m. at which time he leaves the air waves to resume his classroom activities.

Resolutely decided upon a career in radio, Al has organized his education toward that end and plans to major in radio work at Syracuse University. He intends to specialize in the field of program production and direction while attending that institution.

Chance Comes Thru School

The present opportunity, providing invaluable experience toward Al's future plans, opened to him through the University's periodic counseling service. An announcement of such an occasion, providing counselors from the various fields, induced Al to attend a meeting of those interested in radio.

Mr. Robert Drier, secretary of the Bridgeport Broadcasting Company, appeared before this group to aid them in any way that he could. Before this meeting came to an end, arrangements had been made providing Al with a studio audition. This, along with the help of speech instructor Mr. Newkirk, was instrumental to a successful audition and the position with WLIZ when the station began its service Dec. 13.

Al Martin may be heard 1300 on your dial; every hour on the hour, with a summary of the news. At 7:30 he is your host on the "Toast n' Coffee Club," a record show, and again at 1:45 spinning the discs for 15 minutes of "Memorable Music." Co-operative Engineers To be UB Product

When the University of Bridgeport completes its plans for an Engineering School, it will probably be modeled on the principle used very effectively by Antioch College in Ohio.

The future engineers must keep in mind that the engineering projects will require more from the engineer than precise information; they require social perspective, organization, and the ability to see people as ends, rather than means. The leading engineers in all branches of the profession agree that an engineering student can make no greater mistake than that of confining his education to technical courses only, or to book-learning without actual field experience.

The University of Bridgeport will undertake, then, to give the student a solid foundation in the basic principles, so that particular applications can be made in professional practice.

The large range of opportunities available in the Bridgeport area will offer many facilities, both practical and theoretical, to the prospective engineers.

There will probably be little attempt to give highly specialized instruction in any branch of engineering, but opportunity will undoubtedly be available in Tutorial Studies, or as a part of the Comprehensive Field Classes, for students interested in particular problems to do special work under supervision.

Among some of the class and field courses that will probably be offered are surveying, design, thermodynamics, mechanics, circuits, etc. There will also be field credits extended for civil, mechanical, electrical and radio engineering students.

Under this cooperative plan, beginning engineering students will work in industrial production. Upperclassmen will actually work as designers, estimators, inspectors, etc.

Engineering students find cooperative job experience especially advantageous in helping them to establish the relation between classroom theory and professional practice. In short, the plan of the University of Bridgeport is to enable its students to handle responsible positions upon graduation.

Fraternities Outrank Dorm Students

A comparison of grade point ratios for the fall semester of 1947 reveals that the fraternities of the University definitely outranked the dormitories in grades.

The co-eds of Marina led the dormitory list with a 2.0 average; Waldemere, Fremont House and Wistaria were deadlocked for second place with a 1.9 average.

Among the fraternities Kappa Beta Rho rated first with a 2.5 ratio. Sigma Phi Alpha and Delta Epsilon Beta were tied for second place, each having a 2.5 average grade point ratio.

During the first quarter, Bridge- port fared pretty well. The Purple and White matched the U-Conn Extensioners shot for shot and managed to break even after the first ten minutes of play, 14-14.

After a brief rest, U-Conn started to roll. At one time they scored 11 points while BU's "Si" Daly dumped in a foul. The half time score favored U-Conn 36-21.

At the end of the third quarter and into the fourth, BU looked like the team of yore. They out-scored the Extension two baskets to one and came within four points of knotting up the game. But then disaster struck. Three of BU's five starters, Daly, Kuzma, Friedman, went out on fouls. Fort Trumbull jumped at the opportunity and promptly capitalized on it.

"Si" Daly and Steve Komlos led BU with 13 and 12 points respectively.

B.T. Washington Memorial Seeks Funds for Schools

A campaign to raise funds for the establishment of industrial schools for Negroes as a memorial to the late Booker T. Washington is being conducted by the Booker T. Washington Birthplace Memorial.

The chief means of raising funds for this program will be through the sale of the Booker T. Washington memorial half-dollars, which are especially minted under an act of the 79th Congress. These coins are to be sold at $1.00 each, 50c of this amount going in each instance to the Booker T. Washington memorial.

Those wishing to obtain the commemorated half-dollars should write to the Booker T. Washington Birthplace Memorial, New York Headquarters, 152 Williams Street, New York 5, New York. Indicate the number of half dollars desired and enclose check or money order.

Free-Stylers Lead Again

The University of Bridgeport swimming team was defeated Wednesday, March 10, by a well-chosen and experienced Bridgeport YMCA team. The college men dove off to a good start but soon fell behind. The YMCA won by a margin of 25 points, with the final score of 50 to 25.

Undeclared in the three previous encounters of the season, the University's free style relay team remained on top after this meet also. Members of this group were Janson, Gartland, O'Brien, and Pulaski.

120-yard medley relay—Won by the University (Definis, Berliner, and O'Brien).

220-yard free style—Woerner (Y), Cheever (Y), Uitendaal (B).

40-yard free style—Zender (Y), Combler (Y), Pulaski (B).

Diving—Gerathy (Y), Al Schaefer (B), Ralph Schaefer (B).

100-yard free style—Woerner (Y), Janson (B), Clancy (Y).

100-yard breast stroke—Zender (Y), McCarthy (Y), Izzo (B).

It's hard to believe, with all this cold weather, but the BU baseball opener is scheduled for one month from today.

At a meeting of the baseball prospects last week, Coach Herbert Glines outlined some of his plans for the '48 campaign. At least fifty candidates heard him say that the team will be made up of 15 players, nine regulars, one utility infielder, one spare catcher, and four pitchers.

He went on to say that workouts will take place at the Knights of Columbus hall. And, when it gets warmer, the boys will round out their conditioning outdoors at Seaside Park. Coach Glines said that strict training rules will be observed. This means that there will be no smoking, drinking, or playing outside ball.

Home games will be played at Seaside or Beardsley Parks and the contests will start at 3:30 p. m. The 1948 schedule is as follows:

BASEBALL SCHEDULE 1948

100-yard free style relay—Won by Bridgeport (Janson, Gartland, O'Brien, and Pulaski).

The last meet, scheduled for March 13, was to be the last of the season. The team traveled to compete with St. Peter's College in New Jersey.

The coach of the U. of B. team, Bill Plomb, has had a great deal of experience in the field of swimming. His achievements include: Third Place Eastern Interscholastic Championship, 1936; Third Place in New England Boys' Club Championship, 1938; State Interscholastic Diving title, 1937; Southern A. A. U. Junior Diving title, 1942, and the Greater Bridgeport Diving title, 1947.

He has swum with: Orcutt Boys' Club; Warren Harding High School; the Bridgeport YMCA; Clemson College, and the Concord State Teachers.

Constitution Ratified

he stated, is the attainment of recognition accompanied by specifically delegated authority, the limitations and powers of which are, clearly defined. A problem of almost equal importance, however, is the securing of the co-operation of the students and the various campus organizations. Without such co-operation the student government becomes relatively powerless.

After Mr. West's speech, John Cox gave a resume of the important sections of the constitution and clarified them as much as possible for the audience. In this process he particularly emphasized the duties and representation of the two groups comprising the student government—the Student Council and the Student Council Advisory Committee.

Forum Period

After Chris Parris had demonstrated the latest scientific invention in the field of voting machines, the members of the audience were asked to raise any questions that came to their minds concerning the new proposal. Several interesting questions were asked, but the predominance of interest seemed to reside in the question of presidential veto. The consensus of the constitution committee's opinion on this vital question was that the president would only exercise the veto power in cases which he thought would violate the institution's charter. It was further suggested that the pressure of student opinion might be capable of forestalling a presidential veto.

Organizational Procedure

Now that the constitution has been adopted it will be necessary to put it into operation. The first step in this direction will be the organization of elections of class officers and Student Council representatives. For the purpose of conducting these elections, an election committee consisting of volunteers has been set-up. This committee is still in need of additional personnel; anyone wishing to volunteer his services for work on the committee should contact Mr. Brewer at his Simonds House office.

At a meeting of the elections committee held on Monday, March 5, the following people were elected to the following offices: Chairman, Winthrop Baker; Vice chairman, Melvin Tischler; Secretary, Phyllis Delson; Publicity chairman, Robert Hostage. Members of the publicity committee include Stuart Anderson, Bert Arthur, Dorothy Chantos, Kenneth May, and Ollie Shepard. The committee on arrangements is composed of Joseph Biafore, Arnold Bick, Joseph Flood, and George Tangelo.

Decisions

Three important decisions were also reached at this meeting. The first of these states that all candidates desiring class office or a position on the Student Council for the 1948-49

Jayvees Lose Out in Title Bid

The University of Bridgeport Jayvees traveled to St. Thomas Seminary at West Hartford Tuesday in an eleventh hour attempt to match the championship honors won by the varsity club, by capturing the Junior Varsity Conference title. But the scrappy Seminarsians, who at the finish of the regular season were tied for top honors with the Bridgeport club, proved a little too much for the Glinesmen and copped the title by beating the Bridgeport five 46-34.

It was the second game for our Jayvees within twenty-four hours, as they had lost to the Fort Trumbull Branch of the University of Connecticut by one point the preceding night.

In previous competition with St. Thomas this year the teams split, each winning one and losing one.

The only bright spot from the U. B. point of view was Leo Shalvoy. The hard fighting captain carried the club for most of the contest, but the scrappy Hartfordites proved a little too difficult for him and his teammates. Howell of Bridgeport was the high scorer for the game with 14 points, while Shalvoy came up close with 14 to his credit.

The Hartford boys, always a good team to play, displayed some good ball handling at times and plenty of pepper which aided them in capturing the title out of Bridgeport's hands.

The second decision established campaign week between 9:00 a. m. April 14 and 5:00 p. m. April 21.

The third decision concerned voting for class officers and Student Council representatives. It has been tentatively decided that Freshmen will assemble in room 2, Fones Hall; Sophomores in the Fones lecture hall; and Juniors will assemble in the Little Theater during the 4th period on April 22 for the purpose of electing class officers and representatives.

Further information on the rules and regulations as decided upon by the elections committee will appear in the next issue of the "Scribe."

For Your Information

By PRESIDENT JAMES H. HALSEY

One of the services which a college must provide for its students is periodic evaluations of their academic achievement. In the University of Bridgeport this is accomplished by issuing grades at the middle and end of each semester.

The following scale of grades is now in use. A grade of "C" is issued for a level of achievement which represents average attainment. This does not imply that average attainment is based on the average in a particular class in a particular semester, but rather upon the instructor's knowledge of what is accepted as average attainment in the college world over long periods of time and applied to large numbers of students.

A grade of "B" implies attainment noticeably above average. The grade of "A" is reserved for outstanding accomplishment. It is not awarded for a mere slavish compliance with the instructor's assignments but upon evidence of the student's willingness and ability to distinguish himself in that field.

A grade of "D" is used to distinguish work which is below average but still good enough to receive credit for the course. A grade of "F" is assigned when the achievement is below the minimum standard necessary for college credit.

This college does not instruct or expect its teaching staff to issue grades in conformity with a predetermined pattern such as "marking on the curve" or a "percentage" basis. Instead they are urged to grade in conformity with generally accepted practice in the college world. Teachers do not give grades—students earn them.

Since it is difficult to average letter grades, the College uses a quality point system. These points are awarded according to the following scale: per credit hour of "A" grade 4 points, "B" grade 3 points, "C" grade 2 points, "D" grade 1 point, "F" grade 0 points. To determine a student's standing, the total of his quality points is divided by his total credit hour load. This quotient is his quality point ratio.

A quality point ratio of 2 is needed to remain in good standing and a ratio of 3 is required for eligibility for the honor roll.

The quality point schedule outlined above represents a revision of the former schedule which awarded 3 for "A", 2 for "B", 1 for "C", and 0 for "D" and "F" grade work. Under the old system a student who earned a "D" received no more recognition than a student who earned an "F." The new system eliminates this disadvantage.

This article, third in a series concerning phases of the University about which students have raised questions, was written by Professor Earle M. Bigsbee, formerly director of admissions, records, and registration, who was appointed Dean of the Junior College of Connecticut this week. The next article in the series will discuss academic regulations.

James H. Halsey, president

Bigsbee, Fish Named Deans

The appointment of two new deans at the University of Bridgeport was announced recently by President James H. Halsey with the promotion of Professor Earl M. Bigsbee to the position of dean of the Junior College of Connecticut, and of Professor Chauncey L. Fish as dean of the division of student personnel.

Dean Bigsbee has been a member of the faculty of the Junior College since 1936, and recently he has been director of admissions, records, and registration, and chairman of the departments of mathematics, physics, and engineering. He holds both the B.S. and M.S. degrees from Union college and has taken further graduate work at the New York state college for teachers in Albany.

Dean Fish has been a member of the faculty of the Junior College since 1946 and recently has been director of guidance and student personnel. He holds an A.B. degree from Bowdoin college and the A.M. degree from both Columbia university and Bates college. Prior to his coming to Bridgeport he was a Lt.-commander in the U.S.N.R.

These two new deans bring the total of deans at the University of Bridgeport to five, the others being Dr. Clarence D. L. Ropp of the College of Arts and Science, Dr. Boone D. Tillet of the College of Business Administration, and Dr. Harry A. Becker, dean of administration.

This new administrative alignment will facilitate the University's program of expansion, according to President Halsey, and will make possible several new developments of both an immediate and long range nature in harmony with the institution's trend toward an urban university status.

The Student Speaks

THE QUESTION

What do you think about having a football team in 1948?

THE ANSWERS

By members of the student body.

Louis Suchenski: "College life should not be all studies. An important phase of its life must have some major form of varsity athletics—mainly football. Football, more than any other form of athletic participation, will develop better leaders for society. This has been proven by the last World War. We must have full cooperation from the Administration and the Board of Trustees, or none at all."

Harold Beardsworth: "I think football at the U. B. will build up the school's name. I will actively participate on the football team if I can."

Stanley Viantes: "Everything fine about the American college tradition includes football. How can the University of Bridgeport deny such a long standing tradition? There will be football at U. of B. It is inevitable—the sooner the better."

Thomas McGannon: "Every favorable condition necessary to establish, maintain, and support a successful football team is present here at the University of Bridgeport. We have local playing fields, eager players with considerable past experience, availability of good coaching, and student school spirit to set a good record in 1948. If a team is established, I will do everything within my power to support it in any way."

Vincent Howe: "In my opinion, football for the University of Bridgeport is an excellent idea, not only from the standpoint of it being a profitable enterprise for the school, but that it will benefit the school as a whole. It's the cheapest and best type of advertising the school can get. They have all to gain and nothing to lose."

Benjamin Raubvogel: "I believe that 50% of the value of college is its extra-curricular activities. One of the most important of these is the spirit, and unity developed by varsity athletics. Football is the most popular of these sports, and, in addition, to the school, would eventually pay for all other sport activities."

Gerry Wilkins: "I think it will be wonderful. It will help the school spirit tremendously. In my opinion, football is a must in every university."

Fred Bottoms: "I am in full accord with organized football for this university. With proper coaching, equipment and schedule, the students will show the spirit of a progressive university. Let's all rally to the cause; back football for U. B."

Ben Snow: "The University, though still young, should have a football team to: (1) increase the reputation of the University by demonstrating the University's existence; (2) increase school spirit. It is essential, however, that if we do have a team, the entire student body must work toward its success."

Phyllis Cummings: "Football may well become the greatest unifying force in U. B. history."

Norma Kelly: "A football team for the U. of B. can help put Bridgeport on the map. I sincerely hope we will have a team and the sooner the better."

Lynn Kukos: "I am certainly for a football team, and will support it wholeheartedly."

Ann Jacobs, Janet Lamberton: "It will build stronger and huskier males to escort us to the football dances next fall."

Barbara Paige: "A football team would not only increase our school spirit, but will also bring recognition to the school and community."

John Saccone: "We have long been placing the cart before the horse. It has been said that we must just show some spirit, and then our football will come. It may

BREATH OF LIFE

S. J. Moritz, offers the following poem about the trials and tribulations of English Literature.

With apologies to Dean Scurr.

LAST YEAR'S ECHOES

Sir: in unison we cry,
Why spring this test?
Know you not
How we toiled throughout the year
Absorbing Shakespeare's trash
And Cowper's fear?
And Chanticleer—
Alas, where was his jest?
Come! Who cares what wealth
Falls from Burton's pen.
What woodland prose depicts
Poor Carthage's song;
How should we know
A sonnet that is strong;
Why should we care
Who were the Sons O' Ben?
Terza rima, Shelley's ode;
"Grecian urn",
Another ode?
Worn-out with work and tears
On Wordsworth, we welcomed
Whistling Swinburne.
We've passed a thousand years
In sixty weeks,
And sixty weeks
Have seemed a thousand years—
This test, I swear,
Will turn us into freaks.

WE WALKING MEN

Due to a noticeable lack of funds, and the fact that Connecticut frowns upon its citizenry making their own license plates, I have been at the mercy of the Greyline Bus Company for some few weeks. Not to cast aspersions on that honorable organization, but I am heartily in favor of a more progressive means of student transportation!

With individual pogo-sticks costing what they do, I suggest that we cast about for a student, equipped with a suburban, and no great aversion to making a wee bit of change. . . . Anyone fitting the description could establish a scheduled run between campus (that's Latin for campuses, huh!) and in the process of benefiting his fellow students he would probably pick up the purchase price of a new home or two. . . .

OUR HOME WAS

Last weekend saw the partial demolition of Frank Perry's Westport domain . . . the lad casually invited Joe Flood, Jack Brewster, Bruce Walker, and a few of the quieter students down for a little party . . . if you hear an unmelodious sigh accompanied by "Our home is in shambles . . ." that's Frank, the ex-party boy!! . . . Hal Lynos made a slight claim to fame at half time in the Arnold game . . . jumped from the top of the bleachers. At the last minute, however he pulled out and landed on his head!!! . . . Hal's in good shape—as yet we have no report from the floor. . . . If Chris Parris is "Father of the Constitution," Renee Bauer figures she's at least a first constitutional cousin! . . . Speaking of pies . . . Carl Hanson got one from a friend named Beverly Binton t'other night—for further details see Carl, or any lemon meringue pie you see walking around the campus! . . . For weeks now I've been trying to figure the spelling on Lou Annunziato's query: "What transpired, Baby?" (happened, that is!!). . . . Numerous 'well done's' to Gil Brosseau, Joe Tobin, and Vinnie Howe for some very good comments on the pro and con of Student Government at the recent assembly . . . the student body was noticeable by its not being there.

WHAT, NO REBELLION

Don't know exactly what happened but it looked as tho Howie Fried was demonstrating a "tort in action" to Annette Stecher in Criminology a short while back. . . . Incidentally, what happened to Beta Gamma's well-planned rebellion, June? . . . Ann Jacobs was the recipient of a swell 'surprise' party Saturday night. Under the command of Phyllis "Fish" Cummings and Janet Lamberton it really turned out to be a surprise to Ann, as well as Johnny Cox and Kay De Witt who walked off with the ping pong championship! . . . Bob Dunn, Paul Sohovic, Leo Shalvoy, and "Soup" Campbell quietly retired to the "Y" when Ann's brother, age 11, cleaned 10 straight balls off the pool table!! . . . Paul reached the finals tho, and courageously blames his final defeat on his "not too experienced" partner, Phyllis. . . . Sigma Phi Alpha opened the Pequonnock Alleys to the bowling public last Saturday eve. Joe Roman was appointed a committee of one in charge of the party . . . from all reports everyone had one of the better times. John Sheehan took top honors for men's singles score. . . .

SING ON, GIRLS

Mrs. Al Totara walked off with the women's high—Mr. Al Totara walked off. . . . Ray Folkman, with the amazing box score of 51.0, won a large E for effort! . . . Add to the latest on U. of B. football story: a new grid song by the three local composerettes — Doris Maloney, Scotty McBride, and Nanette Boas. . . . Johnny Forman of Army Air Corps fame is flying his last mission in June . . . Miss Thelma Johnson is the objective. . . . "All men are born free and equal" . . . then came marriage!! . . . Meet Dick Mitchell, out of Syracuse by way of N. Y. Central—a new addition to these time-honored halls, and interested much in campus activities—chairmen please note!! . . . For a nominal fee Tom Casimiro will give his interpretation of the Gettysburg Address. . . . Clint Hoysradt promises it's worth the price. . . . There's a large gendarme here with a loose white coat looking for a joker who spent some years strapped to a forty-five. . . . Anybody know him?? . . . Check next issue for results of the St. Pat's party at the Fairfield Inn.

"We would greatly appreciate any suggestion you may have for the improvement of service at the Stable evenings. Since there is only one attendant at the Stable three nights a week, it is often difficult to please everyone. Well, why don't you get some help, you may ask. Would anyone be interested in working Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from 8 to 10 p. m.? We have made every effort to find a fountain attendant, but without success.

Al states that the research necessary in writing that column became an invaluable asset to him in his present duties as disc jockey.

Having a preference for "blues" and the "New Orleans Dixieland" style of jazz, Al hankers for the opportunity of creating a program featuring this mode of swing.
